

At First Sight

At First Sight is a book about a man and woman who meet each other and they start dating. They weren't really looking for anything serious but she ends up getting pregnant and they decide to be together. During that time they learn more about each other everyday and realize the feelings are starting to grow on them. During that time they went through a lot of problems but they always got things figured out. From this book, I think that it has changed my everyday life and the way I act drastically.

At the end of this story, the woman ends up dying giving birth to her baby. The man is devastated and doesn't know how he can do it without her. With that, I think it makes me cherish more of what I have in my life because you never know when you could lose someone so special to you. Everyday I try to be a better person and be nice to the people I love. When I am with them I enjoy the time we spend together because it could be my last. From reading this book, I always show my feelings towards my friends and family and how much I care for them.

I believe that this book has taught me not to regret what I do and just go with what happens in my life. It is very important to have someone in your life who you can be yourself around and spend that time with them. These two people were learning from each other and at the same time starting to fall in love with one another. When you get that kind of feeling, I think that it needs to be shared with that person so they know how you feel because they could also feel that same way. That's how this couple ended up falling in love.

I believe that any book can change your way of thinking about life and learning different things. You can learn a lot of things to help you be that better person and realize what you have can be very special and to not let it go.
