About Anthony and Margaret DeGennaro

Anthony and Margaret DeGennaro were part of America's Greatest Generation, each growing up in an immigrant family that struggled during the Great Depression. Both families believed that education, coupled with a strong work ethic, was the pathway to improved economic success and to a more fulfilling life. However, a college education after high school was, for them, financially impossible.

After their marriage, Anthony used his World War II military service to earn both Bachelors and Masters Degrees through the GI Bill. He began teaching mathematics at Firelands High School and felt honored to be selected as one of LCCC's first adjunct professors when the school was formed in the early '60's. He later moved to Avon Lake High School, all the while continuing to teach part-time at LCCC until long after his retirement from high school teaching. His twin loves of teaching and of mathematics enriched three generations of Lorain County students.

Anthony and Margaret respected all learning, but had special admiration for the practicality of STEM careers. They lived most of their married life in Oberlin, where they raised three sons, all of whom became teachers.

Their scholarship is offered to honor their commitment to education, to LCCC, and to provide a new generation with an opportunity to reach their highest potential.
